

Pretrained representations outperform compositional descriptors across all model families

Protein representation

Ligand representation

